

Briefings in

Palliative, Hospice, and Pain Medicine & Management

July 22, 2009

Workplace outreach initiatives and resources to deal with end-of-life issues

The National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization's Caring Connections offers hospices resources to advise employers in their communities about helping their staff members deal with grief, loss, and preparation for end-of-life care through the It's About How You LIVE - At Work program. Hospice of the North Shore in Danvers, Mass., is one of 35 hospices across the country participating in the Caring Connections workplace outreach initiative. The hospice will offer employers consultation services, referrals, and resources related to end-of-life concerns, and conduct supervisor and employee learning sessions.

<http://www.caringinfo.org/Community/...> <http://www.hns.org/Link...>

This email was sent by: The Mary Ann Liebert Companies
140 Huguenot Street, 3rd Floor New Rochelle, NY, 10801-5215, USA
www.liebertpub.com

© 2009 Mary Ann Liebert, Inc. publishers