INTRODUCTION TO YOUR DELAWARE ADVANCE HEALTH-CARE DIRECTIVE

This packet contains a legal document, the Delaware Advance Health-Care Directive that protects your right to refuse medical treatment you do not want, or to request treatment you do want, in the event you lose the ability to make decisions yourself.

Part 1 is a Power of Attorney for Health Care. This part lets you name someone (an agent) to make decisions about your medical care. The Power of Attorney for Health Care becomes effective when your doctor determines that you lack the ability to understand the significant benefits, risks, and alternatives to proposed health care and to make and communicate a health-care decision. Your agent may only make decisions regarding life-sustaining treatment if your doctor and at least one other doctor certify in your medical record that you are also terminally ill or permanently unconscious.

Part 2 includes your Instructions for Health Care. This is your state's living will. It lets you state your wishes about health care in the event that you can no longer speak for yourself and you are terminally ill or you are permanently unconscious.

Part 3 allows you to express your wishes regarding organ donation.

Part 4 of this form lets you designate a physician to have primary responsibility for your health care.

This form does not expressly address mental illness. If you would like to make advance care plans involving mental illness, you should talk to your physician and an attorney about a durable power of attorney.

Note: These documents will be legally binding only if the person completing them is a competent adult, who is 18 years of age or older, or an emancipated minor.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR YOUR DELAWARE ADVANCE HEALTH-CARE DIRECTIVE

How do I make my advance health-care directive legal?

Delaware law requires that you sign and date your written advance health-care directive in the presence of two witnesses who are 18 years of age or older. If you are unable to sign the document, another person may sign the document for you in your presence and at your direction. Your witnesses cannot:

- be related to you by blood, marriage, or adoption,
- be entitled to any portion of your estate,
- have a claim against any portion of your estate,
- be directly financially responsible for your health care, or
- be an operator or employee of — or have a controlling interest in — a health-care institution where you are a patient or in which you reside.

If you are a resident of a sanitarium, rest home, nursing home, boarding home, or related institution, then one of your witnesses must be a designated patient advocate or ombudsman.

Whom should I appoint as my agent?

Your agent is the person you appoint to make decisions about your medical care if you become unable to make those decisions yourself. Your agent may be a family member or a close friend whom you trust to make serious decisions. The person you name as your agent should clearly understand your wishes and be willing to accept the responsibility of making medical decisions for you.

If you are a resident at a long-term health-care institution, your agent cannot be an operator or employee of or have a controlling interest in the residential long-term health-care institution where you are receiving care, unless that person is related to you by blood, marriage, or adoption.

You can appoint a second and third person as your alternate agents. An alternate agent will step in if the person(s) you name as agent is/are unable, unwilling or unavailable to act for you.

Should I add personal instructions to my Power of Attorney?

One of the strongest reasons for naming an agent is to have someone who can respond flexibly as your medical situation changes and deal with situations that you did not foresee. If you add instructions to this document it may help your agent carry out your wishes, but be careful that you do not unintentionally restrict your agent’s power to act in your best interest. In any event, be sure to talk with your agent about your future medical care and describe what you consider to be an acceptable “quality of life.”

What if I change my mind?

You can revoke all or part of your advance health-care directive:

- through a signed writing,
- by completing a new advance health-care directive, or
- in any other manner that communicates your intent to revoke your directive in front of two competent persons, one of whom is a health-care provider.

If your revocation is not in writing, someone must put it in writing and must sign and date it in front of two witnesses.

Unless you specify otherwise, if you designate your spouse as your agent, that designation will automatically be revoked by divorce, annulment, or dissolution of your marriage or by a filing of a petition for divorce.

Are there any important facts I should know?

Under Delaware law, a life-sustaining procedure may not be withheld or withdrawn from a patient known to be pregnant, if it is probable that the fetus will survive with the continued application of life-sustaining procedures.

You Have Filled Out Your Advance Health-care Directive, Now What?

1. Your Delaware Advance Health-Care Directive is an important legal document. Keep the original signed document in a secure but accessible place. Do not put the original document in a safe deposit box or any other security box that would keep others from having access to it.

2. Give photocopies of the signed original to your agent and alternate agent, doctor(s), family, close friends, clergy and anyone else who might become involved in your health-care. If you enter a nursing home or hospital, have photocopies of your document placed in your medical records.

3. Be sure to talk to your agent(s), doctor(s), clergy, family and friends about your wishes concerning medical treatment. Discuss your wishes with them often, particularly if your medical condition changes.

4. You may also want to save a copy of your form in an online personal health records application, program, or service that allows you to share your medical documents with your physicians, family, and others who you want to take an active role in your advance care planning.

5. If you want to make changes to your documents after they have been signed and witnessed, you must complete a new document.

6. Remember, you can always revoke your Delaware document.

7. Be aware that your Delaware document will not be effective in the event of a medical emergency. Ambulance and hospital emergency department personnel are required to provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) unless they are given a separate directive that states otherwise. These directives called "prehospital medical care directives" or "do not resuscitate orders" are designed for people whose poor health gives them little chance of benefiting from CPR. These directives instruct ambulance and hospital emergency personnel not to attempt CPR if your heart or breathing should stop.

   Currently not all states have laws authorizing non-hospital do-not-resuscitate orders. We suggest you speak to your physician if you are interested in obtaining this form. CaringInfo does not distribute these forms.
