Introduction to Your New Mexico Advance Health-Care Directive

This packet contains a legal document, the New Mexico Advance Health-Care Directive, that protects your right to refuse medical treatment you do not want, or to request treatment you do want, in the event you lose the ability to make decisions yourself. You may complete Part I, Part II, Part III, or any or all parts, depending on your advance-planning needs. You must complete Part IV.

Part I, Power of Attorney for Health Care, lets you name someone, called an "agent," to make decisions about your health care—including decisions about life support—if you can no longer speak for yourself. The power of attorney for health care is especially useful because it appoints someone to speak for you any time you are unable to make your own health-care decisions, not only at the end of life.

Part I goes into effect when your doctor and one other qualified health professional determine that you no longer have the ability to understand and appreciate the nature and consequences of proposed health care and you are unable to make and communicate an informed health-care decision.

If you want your Power of Attorney for Health Care to go into effect immediately, you may select that option under Part I.

Part II, Instructions for Health Care, functions as your state's living will. It lets you state your wishes about health care in the event that you can no longer speak for yourself and:

a) you have an incurable or irreversible condition that will result in death within a relatively short time, or

b) you become unconscious and, to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, will not regain consciousness, or

c) the likely risks and burdens of treatment would outweigh the expected benefits.

Part II also allows you to record your organ donation, pain relief, and other advance planning wishes.

Part II goes into effect when you have one of the conditions listed above and your doctor determines that you are no longer able to make or communicate health-care decisions.

Part III allows you to designate a primary physician

Part IV contains the signature and witnessing provisions so that your document will be effective.

This form does not expressly address mental illness. If you would like to make advance care plans regarding mental illness, you should talk to your physician and an attorney about a durable power of attorney tailored to your needs.

Note: This document will be legally binding only if the person completing them is a competent adult, 18 or older, or an emancipated minor between the ages of sixteen and eighteen who has been married, who is on active duty in the armed forces or who has been declared by court order to be emancipated.

Completing Your New Mexico Advance Health-Care Directive

How do I make my advance health-care directive legal?

You must sign and date this form after completing it. You are not required to have your document witnessed, but it may be helpful to do so in case your advance health-care directive is ever challenged.

Whom should I appoint as my agent?

Your agent is the person you appoint to make decisions about your health care if you become unable to make those decisions yourself. Your agent may be a family member or a close friend whom you trust to make serious decisions. The person you name as your agent should clearly understand your wishes and be willing to accept the responsibility of making health-care decisions for you.

You can appoint a second person as your alternate agent. The alternate will step in if the first person you name as an agent is unable, unwilling, or unavailable to act for you.

The person you appoint as your agent or alternate agent cannot be an owner, operator, or employee of a health-care institution at which you receive care unless he or she is related to you by blood, marriage, or adoption.

Should I add personal instructions to my advance health-care directive?

One of the strongest reasons for naming an agent is to have someone who can respond flexibly as your health-care situation changes and deal with situations that you did not foresee. If you add instructions to this document it may help your agent carry out your wishes, but be careful that you do not unintentionally restrict your agent's power to act in your best interest. In any event, be sure to talk with your agent about your future medical care and describe what you consider to be an acceptable "quality of life."

What if I change my mind?

Except for the appointment of your agent, you may revoke any portion or your entire advance directive at any time and in any way that communicates your intent to revoke, so long as you have capacity. This could be by telling your agent or physician that you revoke, by signing a revocation, or simply by tearing up your advance directive.

In order to revoke your agent's appointment, you must either personally tell your supervising health-care provider of your intent to revoke or revoke your agent's appointment in a signed writing. If you are unable to sign and must have someone sign for you, your written revocation must be witnessed by two adults who sign in your presence, the presence of each other, and in the presence of the person signing for you.

If you execute a new advance directive, it will revoke the old advance directive to the extent of any conflict between the two documents.

Unless you specify otherwise in the "other wishes" section of Part II, if you designate your spouse as your agent, that designation will automatically be revoked by divorce or annulment of your marriage

What other important facts should I know?

Your agent does not have the authority to consent to your admission to a mental health-care facility, unless you expressly permit your agent to do so in your Advance Directive.

EXPLANATION

EXPLANATION

This form is optional. It lets you name someone else to make health-care decisions for you if you become unable to make your own decisions and/or give instructions about your own health care. You may fill out some or all of this form. You may change all or any part of it, or use a different form.

If you have already signed a durable power of attorney for health care and/or a right to die statement (living will), they are still valid.

If you do fill out this form, be sure to sign and date it. You have the right to revoke (cancel) or replace this form at any time. Give copies of this signed form to your health-care providers and institutions, health-care agents you name, and your family and friends. A copy of this form has the same effect as the original.

You Have Filled Out Your Health-Care Directive, Now What?

1. Your New Mexico Advance Health-Care Directive is an important legal document. Keep the original signed document in a secure but accessible place. Do not put the original document in a safe deposit box or any other security box that would keep others from having access to it.

2. Give photocopies of the signed original to your agent and alternate agent, doctor(s), family, close friends, clergy, and anyone else who might become involved in your health care. If you enter a nursing home or hospital, have photocopies of your document placed in your medical records.

3. Be sure to talk to your agent(s), doctor(s), clergy, family, and friends about your wishes concerning medical treatment. Discuss your wishes with them often, particularly if your medical condition changes.

4. You may also want to save a copy of your form in an online personal health records application, program, or service that allows you to share your medical documents with your physicians, family, and others who you want to take an active role in your advance care planning.

5. If you want to make changes to your documents after they have been signed and witnessed, you must complete a new document.

6. Remember, you can always revoke your New Mexico document.

7. Be aware that your New Mexico document will not be effective in the event of a medical emergency. Ambulance and hospital emergency department personnel are required to provide cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) unless they are given a separate directive that states otherwise. These directives called "prehospital medical care directives" or "do not resuscitate orders" are designed for people whose poor health gives them little chance of benefiting from CPR. These directives instruct ambulance and hospital emergency personnel not to attempt CPR if your heart or breathing should stop.

   Currently not all states have laws authorizing these orders. We suggest you speak to your physician if you are interested in obtaining one. CaringInfo does not distribute these forms.

Congratulations!

You've downloaded your free, state specific advance directive.
